PICIOUS-LOOKING CIRCULAR. [From the New York Sunday Mercury.] Some of the best real estate in this city is held by foreign princes. Several of the most expensive buildings in Broadway, in Broad street, and in Wall street, are owned by the Empress Eugenie, who derives from them every year a rent of $65,000. The Duke of Nassau, one of the dispossessed German princes of 1866, was here in 1868. He had bills of exchange to the amount of $1,500,000. He purchased tenements in Allen street that to-day are nominally owned by German lawyers or notaries public, and that yield him twelve per cent. on the capital invested. The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Frederick Francis the Second, is the owner of lots and houses in Elm street, and Queen Victoria owns considerable real estate in Broadway. It stands in the name of an Englishman. The King of Sweden owns $500,000 worth of real estate in New York, and the Grand Duke Alexis owns a hotel in Broadway. King Bomba bought six houses in Greenwich street in 1852, and they are held by Italians for his son, Fran-The following circular has been published in Germany. It is headed with the imperial coat of arms, and reads as follows: The American Princess' Association, capital $50,000,000. No subscription less than $100,000 taken.

The object of the scheme is to secure to German princes a much larger interest upon their money than they can otherwise obtain. Property in New York can now be bought at advantageous rates. While the taxes are unquestionably high, there is still a large margin for profits. The object of the company is to purchase for cash $50,000,000 worth of property in New York city. Five gentlemen—three of them lawyers attached to the Ober Tribunal (the Prussia Supreme Court), and two merchants of New Yorkwill have the management of the property. As a matter of course, under the laws of the State of New York, the latter two gentlemen will nominally hold the property in their names. But the great object is this: That the expenses of managing such a vast amount of property under these circumstances will be reduced to a minimum. It is the object of this company to ask for no higher rent than six per centum over the expenses. This will secure an interest which cannot be secured in any other large and growing-city in the vicinity.

Missing him at his side in their Meckenburg-Schwerin; the Duke Ernest, of accustomed employment, Bob gave it up after Saxe-Coburg-Gotha; the Prince of Segan, the Duke of Ratibar, the Grand Duke of thoroughfare—a large deal-box set up on two millions of dollars have been subscribed and are now on deposit at Bleichweder's Bank (in Berlin). Only noblemen of the first rank, having access to the Emperor at and when General Lee died, mourned of all any time, will be taken as subscribers.

They adopt foreign fashions without caring whether they are suitable or not; nor are they the long. Every American woman considers to display a richly embroidered white unbeing on the second) and the train must descend many a step before she reaches the dining-room. How a foreign lady would feel in such a guise at the porte cochere it is impossible to say, for I do not think one ever found herself there unless her hotel was on fire and she had to fly for her life. Like a pebble thrown into a stream the fashions plate descends, and widening circles mark its course. up with one hand while she carries her baby or draws a bucket of water with the other? We have seen this convenient costume in the wilds of Jersey as we whirled along in the cars. We have seen it going down to the bath-houses at the sea-shore. We have seen it in the kitchens as a robe de matron, for surely if cook's best suit is of the same pattern as that of her employer, why should not her working-dress be also? We must add that with the usual lack of judg-ment alluded to above we have never seen it made of any material proper for sweeping the crossings. It strikes us as rather inconsistent that a people who are always boasting of their freedom should bow their necks so submissively to the tyranny of what they consider fashion. We should think their homes would be much more comfortable if they could be brought to acknowledge that even in this favored country different states of life do exist, and that styles of dress should differ.—Philadelphia
